NAME:

INTRODUCTION

The custom channel of Tradebyte is a standardized product. To ensure that your expectations are met with this channel type, we will check the technical and content related conditions with you. If your needs can't be completely covered by this channel type, our project team is happy to assist you. With a (cost incurring) project setup we will then try to match your requirements. In advance, we need some important information to ease up the following integration process. For this, please answer the questions listed below, enter contact data and check matching points.
